

MISSOURI'S AEROSPACE & DEFENSE INDUSTRY

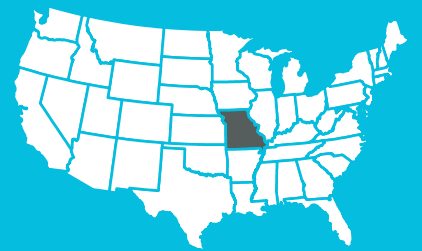

A HISTORY OF EXCELLENCE: Our rich history in aviation, specifically military aviation, has helped make Missouri one of the top aerospace manufacturing providers in a country that's already at the forefront of new technology. From Charles Lindbergh to modern aerospace technology from Boeing, we've been leading the way for more than 100 years.

MADE IN MISSOURI: More than 16,000 of Missouri's highly trained workforce builds advanced military jets at Boeing's Defense, Space and Security facilities, along with a huge array of military ordinance and commercial composite parts.

HIGHLY SKILLED: More than 3,000 degrees in Engineering were granted in Missouri in 2022, as well as nearly 600 degrees in Precision Production (Lightcast and NCES, 2022).

DEFENSE INDUSTRY LEADER: Missouri is home to the western campus of the National Geospatial Intelligence Agency (NGA) where the U.S. Government is currently investing $1.75 billion to expand NGA's presence in Missouri.

CONNECTED TO EVERYWHERE: Missouri exports more than $15 billion in manufacturing products annually to more than 190 countries around the globe.
