

GLOBAL LEADER: Cerner, Centene, and Express Scripts are all companies synonymous with Missouri's reputation in health innovation. These companies, and others across the state, are remaking the health industry.

HIGHLY SKILLED: Missouri's pharmaceutical and bioscience industry employs approximately 54,000 highly skilled individuals within more than 4,400 companies.

HEALTHY PIPELINE: Forty Missouri colleges and universities offer bachelor's degrees or higher in biological or biomedical sciences.

HEALTHY INNOVATION: Cutting-edge research is taking place across Missouri, in world-renowned research hospitals, pharmaceutical companies, and innovation communities such as Cortex and the Missouri Innovation Center.

INVESTING IN HEALTH: Missouri is committed to investing in health innovation with both private and public funds being invested in this growing sector.

54,000
employed in pharmaceuticals
and bioscience

7th-best medical school
for research

INNOVATION AND EXPERIENCE: Missouri is home to successful health innovators such as Pfizer, GlaxoSmithKline, Cerner, Teva, Express Scripts, Boehringer Ingelheim Vetmedica and more.

THRIVING INDUSTRY: Missouri is the headquarters of global healthcare leaders, including:

The Missouri Partnership is a public-private economic development organization focused on attracting new jobs and investment to the state and promoting Missouri's business strengths. We work in partnership with the Hawthorn Foundation, the Missouri Department of Economic Development, the State of Missouri, and economic development agencies across the state.

MISSOURI PARTNERSHIP®